TP Miami-Dade Transportation Planning Organization
South Dade
SMART Implementation Plan Charrettes
Public participation will be held at a series of charrettes in the South Corridor. The South Dade TPPO is now expanding the Transportation Planning Organization to complete the SMART Plan, which is intended to help address community goals through transportation and land use planning and development of transit.
2017 Implementation Plan Charrettes
Two (2) series of charrettes will be conducted for the South Corridor, which runs from the Metrorail Station to the South Dade Transit Station. The first charrette series will be conducted in December. Charrettes are intensive planning sessions where citizens, designers and others will be collaborating on a vision for the Corridor. The Charrettes will be designed to encourage participation of citizens who are interested in the making of a vision for the Corridor. Interested residents, business owners, associations, government, the development community and activists.
